SHOPS, PLANTS AND LABS

Floor coatings

Floors recoated, with grip where they get wet.

Metro Vancouver and the Fraser Valley

What we do

A good floor coating starts with good prep. We clean and etch the concrete, or shot blast it when oil has soaked in.

We're not tied to one brand, so each floor gets the system that suits its use.

We can work nights or weekends to fit your production schedule.

What's included

- Epoxy floors: two-part systems for shops, breweries and plants.
- Concrete floor painting: a sealed finish where bare concrete is dusty.
- Non-slip coatings: anti-slip additive mixed in for floors that get wet.
- Food-processing plant floors: processing rooms and wash-down areas.
- Aisle and walkway lines: line and traffic marking paint.

How we do it

1. Site visit
   We look at the concrete, what's soaked in, and the traffic it carries.
2. Prep
   Cleaning and etching, or shot blasting for oil, plus crack repair.
3. Coating
   Primer and finish coats, with anti-slip additive where it gets wet.
4. Cure
   We tell you when it's ready for foot traffic and for vehicles.

Work only goes ahead once you've approved the written scope.
